Nation's Economy Grows Faster Than Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy, still on a strong upward path, may top the Nixon administration's official forecast made in January, government reports indicate.

The Federal Reserve Board supplied evidence of continuing economic expansion Monday, reporting that its index of industrial production rose 0.5 per cent in August after a 0.3-per-cent gain a month earlier. The index is regarded as one of the most sensitive indicators of the economy.

On Capitol Hill, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz disclosed that the administration had revised upward its 1972 economic forecast. Gross National Product, the output of the nation's goods and services, is expected to grow $7 billion higher than forecast in January, Shultz said.

If so, this means that GNP, the broadest measure of the economy, will grow by more than $100 billion this year and make 1972 one of the best years for the economy.

Shultz's report said that GNP is expected to average $1.132 trillion this year, compared with $1.145 trillion estimated in January.

As for industrial production, the board said its index moved up 8.2 per cent higher than a year earlier to 114.3 per cent of the 1967 average.

The production gain was strongest in the manufacture of durable goods, but output in the mining and utilities industries showed some decline.

The board's report also showed that the central bank is continuing its policy of expanding the nation's money supply to accommodate the economic growth. In August, the money supply increased at an annual rate of 6 per cent, slower than the July rate but still a fairly strong growth.

In July, the board disclosed only Monday, the Federal Reserve's Open Market Committee decided to influence the money market enough to keep short-term interest rates from falling too sharply because of international developments. This was in response to a money crisis overseas precipitated by a large accumulation of dollars by foreign central banks.

Bomb Blast Kills Israeli In London

Embassy Official Dies, Other Hurt In Explosion

LONDON (AP) — A booby trapped package exploded in the Israeli Embassy today and Scotland Yard said the man who opened it was killed and another man was injured and hospitalized.

The British Foreign Office identified the dead man as Agriculture Attaché Dr. Ami Shachori. The injured man was not immediately named.

A spokesman said that police reports disclosed the package was mailed to the embassy from Amsterdam.

Israeli Embassy sources said Shachori, in his early 40s, had just completed his four-year term in London and was waiting to return to Israel.

His wife and children had already left London.

First reports indicated the package bomb had been addressed to him. But Embassy officials said they could not be certain.

Initial reports of the blast were confused as fire engines and dozens of police cars converged on the embassy in the exclusive Kensington district.

An embassy spokesman first said the stricken man—it was not clear whether he was a diplomat—was not badly wounded but merely suffered shock. Soon after, he said it was thought he had a stomach wound.

Scotland Yard then said the embassy reported the man was dead by the time an ambulance got him to a hospital about two miles from the embassy.

The explosion occurred on the first floor of the main embassy building on Palace Green. The street houses many embassies, including the Soviet, Japanese, Romanian and Norwegian.

Police quickly cordoned off the private road. Squads of uniformed officers refused to allow any members of the public or press through.

Tough Ohio Traffic Law Effective Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's toughest new habitual offender traffic law goes into effect Friday. Officials say it should help get the drunks off the road and eventually reduce auto insurance rates.

The statute tightens the penalty point accumulation system under which drivers can have their licenses suspended or revoked.

A driver who accumulates 24 points over a 10-year period will have his license suspended for five years. One who collects 12 points in two years will lose his license for six months.

Penalties for driving while under license suspension have been increased to a $500-to-$2,500 fine and 1-3 years in prison if under a five-year suspension and a $500 fine and up to six months in jail under a six-month suspension.

Highway Safety Director Eugene O'Grady said Monday the law should help get drunks off the roads because driving under the influence of alcohol results in six penalty points, or half the total allowed for a two-year period.

John Winchell, executive director of the Ohio Insurance Institute, who appeared at a joint news conference with O'Grady, said accidents and inflation are the prime factors in determining auto insurance rates.

"This will reduce the number of accidents," Winchell said, and should bring a "reduction and stabilization of rates over the long range."

Senate Approves Measure To Repay Crime Victims

NEW VEHICLE — Pickaway County Sheriff's Auxiliary Captain Don Woodward (in uniform) hands keys to the four-wheel drive vehicle in back to Pickaway County Commissioner Dick Tootle. The auxiliary deputies who donate their time to assist regular deputies, purchased the vehicle through funds raised by sale of American Flag pins and spaghetti suppers. Commissioners Tootle, Charles Morris (second from right) and

Wayne Hines (right) turned the keys over to Sheriff Dwight Radcliff (left). The sheriff noted that this was another fine example of the excellent work done by the auxiliary. He added that his department would not be able to accomplish many of their duties without auxiliary assistance. The vehicle will be utilized by both regular and auxiliary units for rescue work in areas of rough terrain and during bad weather.

Big Problem Faces U.N. Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — An escalating crisis in the Middle East, Chinese and Soviet demands for the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Korea, and a bitter debate on terrorism confront delegates from 132 member states as they meet today for the opening of the 27th U.N. General Assembly.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko heads a high-powered Soviet delegation. He is the first of the Big Five foreign affairs chiefs to arrive for the 13-week parley, which 73 foreign ministers are expected to attend.

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, the British foreign secretary, French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann and the Chinese foreign affairs vice minister, Chiao Kuan-hua are scheduled to arrive in the next few days.

The critical assembly session convenes under the tightest security precautions since the special 1970 session when heads of state gathered to commemorate the United Nations' 25th anniversary.

As on that occasion, a force of federal Executive Protective Service agents has been sent in from Washington. President Nixon ordered 40 to New York to guard the U.N. missions of 18 Arab countries, Israel and the West German observer following the Munich killing of 11 Israeli Olympic squad members.

The session also meets in the lengthening shadow of a Middle East crisis which observers say has set back chances of a negotiated peace agreement several years.

A perennial item on the assembly agenda, the Middle East problem this year is compounded by Israeli retaliation for the Munich terror attack.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim on Monday condemned the weekend Israeli incursion into Lebanon, declaring "such acts of violence" were not helpful to solving the crisis by peaceful means.

Waldheim has proposed that the assembly consider "measures to prevent terrorism and other forms of violence," thus possibly assuring the most acrimonious Mideast debate for years.

Aggression has defied U.N. definition for years, and terrorism is expected to produce the same impasse. But the U.S. team under Rogers is expected

Freed Pilots Walk Through Hanoi, Await Trip Home

HANOI (AP) — After 24 hours of freedom walking around the capital of the country they once regularly bombed, three American pilots looked more relaxed Monday than they had under the movie lights of their release ceremony. They were talking about making the long flight halfway around the world home.

Air Force Maj. Edward Elias looked wistfully toward his fellow pilots, Navy Lt. Norris Charles and Markham Gartley, who were laughing over dinner with their loved ones.

"I sure wish I could get home soon," he said.

Definite plans for their departure from Hanoi have not yet been formed, according to Cora Weiss, co-chairman of the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam.

"It is in the hands of the Foreign Ministry but I expect to be leaving with the men this weekend," Mrs. Weiss said. The men were released Sunday.

Monday afternoon Charles and his wife Olga planned a quiet stroll around a popular Vietnamese lovers' lane on the edge of a large lake in the middle of Hanoi.

Hundreds of Hanoi residents gathered around them curiously, just watching and saying nothing.

As Minnie Lee Gartley and her pilot son Mark joined them, someone shouted out, "Gartley, Gartley," and the crowd murmured but did not seem antagonistic.

Mrs. Weiss told the pilots later at dinner: "Could you imagine Japanese pilots walking free in New York City after the bombing of Pearl Harbor? This is fantastic."

All the pilots have been speaking freely of their detention, which was four years for Gartley, eight months for Charles and five months for Elias.

Gartley said their food was adequate and the general policy in the camps where he was detained was acceptable.

"We were not penalized in any way when the bombing of North Vietnam was resumed," he said.

Negro Is Promoted To Police Captain

CINCINNATI (AP) — William Neal, commander of the Internal Investigation Section of the Cincinnati Police Department, becomes the first black to hold as high a position as captain on the force.

Neal was among four lieutenants promoted to captain Monday by Police Chief Carl Goodin. The promotions were made possible by the city manager's approval of increasing the complement of captains from 14 to 18.

Police, Fire Officer Deaths Federal Offense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved legislation to compensate victims of crime and the "good Samaritans" who go to their rescue.

The amendment was attached to an omnibus crime bill which passed the Senate by a 74-0 vote Monday. The bill also would make it a federal crime to kill a policeman or fireman.

The bill now goes to a Senate-House conference to resolve differences.

Arguing for adoption of his proposal, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said government for too long has neglected the victims of violent crimes and others injured while trying to aid them.

In an unusual parliamentary tactic, Mansfield's $15-million plan was passed twice—the first time on its merits and the second time attached to the House-passed omnibus crime measure.

Mansfield said he hoped by this maneuver to get his proposed compensation bill before House-Senate conferees for possible passage this Congress. The House has taken no action on the compensation plan.

The bill would pay victims for medical and burial expenses, loss of earnings and support, therapeutic costs and child-care expenses to enable

Plane Crash Fatal To Trio In Michigan

ALPENA, Mich. (AP) — Three men have died in the crash of a twin engine airplane enroute from Wauseon, Ohio, to the Alpena Airport with 600 pounds of automotive wire aboard, according to State Police.

Police have identified the victims as Victor Travis, 49; Willis Miller, 46 and Kermit Webber, 46. Police say all three men were from Wauseon.

Witnesses told police the plane struck a power line when it came down at 8:25 p.m. Monday, but didn't explode or burn.

The three men were delivering wire bound for the Essex Wire Co. in Atlanta, a community about 50 miles west of here in northern Michigan.

Nixon Considers Ohio Top State

COLUMBUS (AP) — The director of President Nixon's reelection committee in Ohio, Charles Ross, says Ohio is one of the five most important states in the campaign.

Ross also says Nixon will be in Ohio "once, maybe twice" and that if the President's popularity holds up as current polls show, campaign emphasis is likely to move toward seeking congressional control.

Campaign Foulups Leave McGovern Fuming

CHICAGO (AP) — After a day of campaign foulups that reportedly left him fuming, Sen. George McGovern today endorsed the idea of tax credits for parents of students in private and parochial schools.

The move was seen mainly as a friendly gesture toward millions of Roman Catholic voters concentrated in the large states which the Democratic presidential nominee feels are crucial for his bid for the White House.

McGovern said he endorsed the "tax credit approach" without proposing any specific plan.

Previously McGovern had said he was exploring ways to aid parochial schools without violating the U.S. Constitution's prohibition against mingling church and government.

McGovern released his statement on parochial school aid before heading into a closed-door meeting with Chicago labor leaders. He also was to appear at a Catholic technical high school in a predominantly white, working class neighborhood in the northwest part of the city.

Monday, McGovern put in a 17-hour day on the campaign trail in West Virginia coal country, Ohio's industrial southwest and the rural southern tip of Illinois. But the nominee spent barely five hours of that time campaigning.

The rest of the time was spent fighting twisting mountain roads and city traffic jams, so that by late afternoon a highly placed traveling staffer was muttering "dumb! dumb-dumb!"

McGovern was described as extremely irritated after arriving in Cincinnati two hours behind schedule and so late that his interviews with local television newsmen missed the afternoon broadcasts. One station cancelled its interview altogether.

He got himself back on schedule by forfeiting a couple of hours of personal time he had planned in Cincinnati. His day perked up when he addressed an applauding, cheering airport crowd, estimated by local authorities at between 2,000 and 4,000, at Carbondale, Ill., site of the 23,000-student one parent to work. Victims would not be repaid for property losses but intervenors—the so-called good Samaritans—would be.

The administration reportedly opposes the bill as being premature.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said it would further burden the taxpayer who he said "is innocent in this, too."

Another amendment to the omnibus crime package would make it a federal crime to kill, injure or assault a policeman, fireman or judicial officer because of his official position.

The vote was 46 to 23 in favor of the proposal by Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa.

Another provision would establish a federally subsidized group-life insurance plan for state and local policemen, firemen and other public-safety officers. The cost was put at $22 million annually.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., also won passage of an amendment to extend until June 30, 1974, the Omnibus Crime Control Act of 1968, at an estimated cost of $1.74 billion for the extra year.

Two other crime bills passed by the Senate Sept. 5 were wrapped into the omnibus bill. One would authorize a $50,000 payment to dependents of policemen, firemen and other law-enforcement officers slain on duty. The other would make available antitrust-type civil remedies to victims of theft and racketeering, allowing them, for instance, to sue for treble damages.

3rd District Capital Falls To Vietnamese Communists

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces have seized their third district capital in a month in the northern region south of Da Nang and occupied three hamlets in another district, military spokesmen reported today.

The gains were made in Quang Ngai province, the southernmost of five provinces that make up the northern Military Region 1.

Quang Ngai is under the heaviest Communist pressure since the start of the North Vietnamese offensive March 30.

For the fourth consecutive day heavy fighting swirled through the three southern districts of Quang Ngai — Mo Duc, Duc Pho and Ba To.

North Vietnamese attacks toppled Ba To, and the South Vietnamese retreated to positions a mile southwest of the district capital, the Saigon command said.

The fighting also spread to Binh Son district, the northernmost district in Quang Ngai, where enemy forces were reported to have attacked and occupied three hamlets.

Field reports said Duc Pho was endangered and at last report was being contested with neither side in clear control.

Pressure was reported eased at Mo Duc by the linkup of an armored cavalry unit with government militiamen.

A communique from the Saigon command claimed that 345 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops had been killed in fighting during the past two days in Quang Ngai province. Government losses, still incomplete, were at least 36 troops killed and 41 wounded.

The South Vietnamese casualties were expected to mount when final reports are in.

The fighting that erupted in the province Saturday has created thousands of new refugees, field reports said.

Earlier, Que Son and Tien Phouc district towns, 50 to 60 miles northwest, fell to the enemy. Que Son was recaptured, but Tien Phouc is still held by enemy forces.

In the air war, the U.S. Command announced in a delayed report that a Navy A6 crashed from unknown causes Sunday northeast of Hanoi and the two crewmen are missing. This raised to 99 the number of American jets lost over North Vietnam and to 106 the number of crewmen missing since the resumption of full-scale bombing April 6, the Command said.

The increase this year for development-loan funds included $320 million for the International Development Association (IDA) compared to none last year and an additional $206.6 million for the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB), making a total of $418.4 million for the bank this year.

The IDA advances development credit to poor countries and gives them 50 years to repay it. The IDB makes loans to Latin American countries.

The committee criticized the continuation of U.S. aid to countries which expropriate U.S. property, such as Chile, but it did not recommend the aid be halted.

Besides funds for foreign aid and the Peace Corps, the $4.2-billion bill includes $738 million for the IDA and IDB, $145 million for Cuban refugee relief, $50 million for Soviet Jews settling in Israel, $8 million for other migration aid and $42 million for the Overseas Private Investment Corp., which insures U.S. holdings abroad.

The cuts from Nixon's $5.16-billion request included $215 million from economic aid, $142 million from military aid and $491.5 million from the international institutions.

The bill includes $2 billion for military aid, $1.2 billion for economic aid and $81 million for the Peace Corps for the fiscal year which started last July 1.

House action on the bill is scheduled Thursday.

The committee quoted Asst. Secretary of State Marshall Green as saying the effort to turn the Vietnam war over to South Vietnamese troops and withdraw some 500,000 U.S. troops has saved $22 billion a year.

This is the "peace dividend" that has been more than offset.

400 Former Stewardesses Back On Job

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Four hundred former stewardesses, some in their 40s, are returning to the air as mothers.

The stewardesses, who had been fired as far back as 1965 for becoming pregnant, are back in the air because of a court-approved settlement of a suit brought by their union against Trans World Airlines and American Airlines.

The Air Line Stewardesses Association argued the firings were discriminatory, in violation of 1965 Equal Employment Opportunity Commission guidelines.

In the settlement reached in March in Chicago, the two airlines agreed to rehire qualified stewardesses at their original seniority level.

Since then TWA and American have rehired 400 women, the oldest 45.

The returnees say being a stewardess is better the second time around.

"I feel like I'm a better stewardess now than I was when I was 22," says TWA's Pat Tuens, 37, a mother of two.

"I've matured with the responsibilities of being a wife and a mother. I feel more level-headed and capable of dealing with people."

Returning to the air has been prompted by a variety of reasons: boredom, nostalgia, broken marriages or economic need. The job pays from $800 to $1,000 a month for about 72 hours work, and the stewardesses are generally away from home only two nights a week.

Stock List Up Slightly
NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices moved somewhat higher today in moderate trading in what analysts described as basically a technical move.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 2.49 at 947.85.

American Telephone, which on Monday reported higher quarterly earnings, was up 1/4 to 46 1/2 while AT&T warrants gained 1/4 to 5.

Analysts said the market upturn was primarily technical in nature. They pointed out that prices had been weak in recent sessions and were due for a rise.

Whether this signals the beginning of a rally will depend in part, they said, on whether volume picks up. Trading has been light since Labor Day.

Deputies Investigate Seven County Accidents Monday

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated seven accidents on Pickaway County roads Monday as rain was blamed for hazardous driving conditions.

Ruth Green, 17, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington

C. H., for treatment of back injuries after she lost control of her car on Crownover Mill Road 2:18 p.m. Monday.

Investigating Deputy Warren Straley said Miss Green was driving west on the road and had just rounded a curve when the right front wheel of her car struck a rough section of the road, a large hole near the edge of the pavement and rough, wavy blacktop.

She lost control of the vehicle and drove along the edge of the grass on the right side for 78 feet. She then skidded back across the wet road and went off the left ditch into a tree.

Her car was a total loss. Also destroyed were three rods of fence owned by Eddie Keaton, Route 1, New Holland.

No one was hurt in an accident on Route 56 at 5:04 p.m. when a car, towing another auto, drove off the road.

But Sheriff's Deputy Ray Ratcliff arrested driver of the towing car, Ronald Rogers, 18, St. Clairsville, for driving left of center. Driver of the car being towed, Clifford Brown, Jr., 19, Columbus, was charged with having counterfeited 20 day tags on his car.

Both cars suffered only minor damage. Rogers apparently drove off the left side of Route 56 at Blain Road.

An accident in the village of Derby 7:30 p.m. Sunday did only minor damage to both cars involved, but Deputy Ratcliff charged Alfred Ackley, 21, Derby, with reckless operation.

Deputy Ratcliff said Ackley was driving north on Greenbrier St. at a high rate of speed when he tried to turn right onto Renick St.

He lost control of the vehicle, driving off the left side. However, the car came back to the roadway and struck a parked car owned by George Diamond, Derby, that was near the right berm.

A Polish journalist explaining how to pronounce Trepczynski's name grabbed his chin and intoned: "Say trep-CHIN-ski."

The name is well-known in Poland where Trepczynski's father was a lawyer, his wife is a prominent physician and his sons studied chemistry at a university. Trepczynski is a favorite guest at Warsaw University events.

The 48-year-old Pole was the choice of the Eastern European bloc and assumes the presidency after a ceremonial election.

Because of the first tentative contacts between North and South Korea, the assembly last year put off the Korean question until this session.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Pregnancy After 50 Not Probable

DEAR ABBY: Applause to you for telling "WORRIED SPITLESS" to keep her guard up regarding late pregnancy.

After a recent surgical procedure, my doctor told me that I would probably not start my menopause for at least two years—that I am still ovulating, and can get pregnant, I am 54 years old!

Sign me, "BEING VERY, VERY CAREFUL IN ANAHEIM!"

DEAR BEING: I received numerous reports from readers insisting that they knew women who had given birth well into their sixties!

I asked my own doctor, John A. Haugen, an expert in the practice of obstetrics and gynecology for some 35 years in Minneapolis, and here is his reply:

"Dr. Nicholson J. Eastman of Johns Hopkins University made an exhaustive study of the records from Johns Hopkins Hospital, New York Lying-In Hospital, and Boston Lying-In Hospital concerning the upper age limits of reproductivity. Studying more than 500,000 records from these well authenticated reports, no pregnancy after the age of 50 was recorded. I must agree with your statement, Abby, that although the chances of becoming pregnant at the age of 50 are greatly reduced, it is by no means impossible, so keep telling the ladies to keep their guards up."

Electricity Costs Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of electricity was up 6 per cent for average residential users in 1970, and consumption of electricity was up 7 per cent, the Federal Power Commission reports.

The FPC Sunday said the national average monthly bill for 500 kilowatt-hours in 1970 for residential customers was $11.13, or 2.23 cents per kilowatt-hour.

The corresponding figures for 1969 were $10.51 for 500 hours in 1969, and 2.10 cents per kilowatt-hour.

It was previously forecast by the FPC that increased use of electric power would be accompanied by higher rates to consumers.

The study showed increases in all residential usage categories in 1970—for 100, 250, 400, 750 and 1,000 kilowatt-hour levels.

Average residential consumption was 6,367 kilowatt hours in 1970, up from 5,943 in 1969 and 45 per cent more than in 1965.

DEAR ABBY: You can hardly pick up a newspaper anymore without reading that some teen-aged girl was raped. Some are even raped and murdered. I am heartsick for the victims and their families, but, Abby, the way some girls dress nowadays, they are asking for it.

Why in God's name would a fully developed girl go around with a see-through blouse and no bra, and short shorts or a pair of jeans so tight that if she had a dime in her pocket you could tell whether it was heads or tails? Don't these foolish girls realize they are asking for trouble?

Abby, so many of them read your column, please warn them.

WORRIED FOR GIRLS. DEAR WORRIED: Some girls are naive. But most girls dress provocatively to attract attention—and they do. (So do some men, but the threat of rape is minimal.) I would hope that all women would dress decently and modestly more for their own self-respect than for protection.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to respond to "Cold Fish in Pompano Beach," who is married to an undemonstrative husband.

From her letter, she is not starving or sleeping on a park bench, or hauling her husband home from the corner pub, dead drunk every night. So he's "cold"? There are probably thousands of women with seven kids who are dead tired who wish their husbands would leave them alone.

I am married to a man who has to be asked for a good-night kiss. And if I want more than a kiss, I have to ask him for that, too. I also avoided for a couple of years, but it didn't change him a bit. No amount of begging, threatening, or nagging will ever change a man. Then I told myself I was foolish. He comes home every night, hands over every paycheck, and he's good to the kids. So what if he doesn't pinch me at the kitchen sink? He doesn't pinch anybody else, either.

In case you think our life is boring, it isn't. We have many nice friends. We're active in church. I teach Sunday school and my husband is a youth director. We go camping and fishing together. We don't drink or smoke, and we're healthy!

My husband may not be the most passionate lover of the 20th century, but when we are 70, we will still be having fun together when "Cold Fish" is still fishing.

DOESN'T MIND ASKING IN SEATTLE

DEAR SEATTLE: No one has everything. And if you don't miss what you don't have (and you seem to have rationalized it very well), hooray for you. May it ever be thus.

Find 3-Day Work Week Successful

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP) — Lester Cutler, a 51-year-old textile mill owner, is as proud as a new father about a three-day work week he has initiated for his employees. He says he thinks it is "as historical as Ford's $5-a-day plan."

Most of the employees at Cutler's Wales Manufacturing Co. are off four days a week, putting in three 12-hour days to earn their full 40-hour pay per week.

Grace Martin, back on the job after a four-day weekend, said: "I was glad to come back. It's unusual for me to miss work that much."

Mrs. Martin runs a knitting machine and says the long day at work does not tire her. There are several short breaks throughout the day and a half hour for lunch.

Another worker, Gloria Bryson, said, "I didn't think I'd feel that good" as she did after her three 12-hour work days.

"If I have to work 40 or 48 hours, this is the best way. I have more time at home," she added.

Cutler says he began thinking about the best way to utilize his plant nearly a year ago, noting that the best utilization of his equipment requires 24-hour operation.

He said he used to have three groups of 30 employees for three eight-hour shifts each work day.

"Now we have 30 working from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Wednesday, another 30 from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. those days, 30 more on two shifts like that Thursday through Saturday — four groups of 30."

"We created more jobs," he said.

Nixon Increases Fuel Oil Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon Monday moved to sharply increase imports of fuel oil. Officials said the proclamation he signed will allow an additional 9,500 barrels to be imported daily through the rest of this year.

The proclamation signed by Nixon increased from 45,000 barrels per day to 50,000 barrels per day of importing No. 2 fuel oil and also said imports can bring in an extra 10 per cent during the last three months of this year. This would add up to 9,400 barrels per day.

No. 2 fuel oil is used extensively in New England and other northern states, and Nixon's proclamation said the Office of Emergency Preparedness—OEP—had found that "changes in the supply ... and demand... have been occurring rapidly and additional flexibility should be provided."

Narcotics - Control Officers Given Pep Talk By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon vowed Monday he would cut off all U.S. economic and military aid to any country whose leaders protect "the merchants of death who traffic in heroin."

Selecting an international narcotics control conference to respond to Democratic nominee George McGovern's criticism of his war on drugs, Nixon said "very sharp recent increases" in heroin prices in the eastern United States "indicate that the supply is drying up and that the pressure is on the criminal drug trade."

"We are going to keep the heat on until these despicable profiteers in human misery are driven out of their hiding places and are put in prison where they belong," Nixon said in his prepared comments.

He asked the U.S. diplomats who coordinate overseas efforts to curb drug supplies to convey "this personal message for me: 'Any government whose leaders participate in or protect the activities of those who con-

Angela Davis Arrives For Bulgarian Visit

MOSCOW (AP) — Angela Davis has arrived in Sofia, Bulgaria, to a welcome of "red carnations and friendly smiles," Tass reported.

The official Soviet news agency's dispatch from Sofia said Miss Davis, a member of the American Communist party, was invited there by the Central Committee of the Bulgarian Communist party.

tribute to our drug problem should know that the President of the United States is required by statute to suspend all American economic and military assistance to such a regime. I shall not hesitate to comply fully and promptly with that statute."

McGovern in a statement issued Sunday said the number of heroin addicts in the United States had double since 1968 and charged that Southeast Asia had become a major source of heroin because the administration would not crack down on the narcotics trade in Laos, Thailand and South Vietnam.

Nixon made no direct reference to McGovern's charges, but his comments appeared to be a sharp counterattack.

Measured In Meters

Watching the grandeur of the Olympics, many North Americans may have missed the significance of the measurements used to test athletes in world arenas these days. Reared on a diet of 100-yard dashes, mile runs and 50 or 100-yard water contests, American and Canadian observers may have been lost by such designations as 10-meter diving platforms, 50-meter pools and 100-meter dashes.

The athletes who took part in those events were not confused by the distances, however, for they are among a growing population in the few remaining non-metric nations who find it necessary to acquaint themselves with two systems of measurement if they wish to communicate intelligently with the rest of the world.

The metric system of measurements has been overwhelmingly accepted, with only the United States, Canada and a handful of small countries still relying on the old English system. The inconvenience of being out of step with the vast majority on such a fundamental system of measurements extends to more important fields than sports contests.

Where Are Prophets?

When September is going down the drain rapidly, it is the time of year when amateur weather prophets usually are beginning to release their predictions. Will the winter be warmer or colder than average — or average?

If any of this gentry has made the prints, the item must have been buried on an inside page. Which raises the disturbing thought that perhaps they do not know. If amateur weathermen were to confess to bafflement, verily anything could happen.

Weather generally continues to spurn a course of running true to form, as it has most of the year. In some areas there has been mid-fall weather in September. In some other sections temperatures have been above average for this time of year. Several disastrous floods last summer have been followed by drought in some localities.

Such behavior by the elements may be enough to mystify the best amateur weather forecaster, and it is possible he is holding off until he can latch onto something more definite.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: Ancient Chinese emperors had a regal way of dismissing bad news. When they chose not to hear it, they simply put golden plugs in their ears. You'd never guess what started America's great cold-rolled strip steel industry. Well, tradition says that around 1859 a new ladies' fashion for hoop skirts gave birth to it by creating a demand for flat wire. One of the reasons wolves have survived is that their ears are so acute they can hear a man walking across a field a quarter of a mile away.

What is the healthiest period of life? Well, in most fields of sports men's strength seems to reach a peak in the early twenties, but the body is best able to fight off infectious diseases of all kinds between the ages of 5 and 15.

Quotable notables: "Conceit is God's gift to little men." — Bruce Barton.

Some ice cube: The amount of ice in the Antarctic ice cap is so huge it almost defies the human imagination. If melted at a steady rate, it would supply enough water to keep all the rivers of the world full for 750 years.

Puffed-up kernels: The popularity of popped corn didn't begin with the movies. This native delicacy was enjoyed by Indians from South Africa to Canada before the white man came. The Pilgrims learned to eat it with sugar and cream for breakfast. Americans now eat 350 million pounds of popcorn a year. The product has been so improved by cross-breeding that 99 out of 100 kernels now pop, and an ounce of kernels makes a quart of popped corn.

Worth remembering: "Character is not born in a crisis; it is only revealed."

Folklore: It is lucky to be the seventh son of a seventh son. Even numbers are generally regarded as unluckier than odd numbers. If you see a pin on the floor, you'll have good luck if you pick it up, bad luck if you don't.

Speaking of
YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

At the age of 43 I am in good health except for the fact that I have a fibroid tumor of my womb.

I am told that this must be kept under observation. If it has to be removed eventually, why should I not have the operation now and get it over with?

Mrs. J. S. Utah

Dear Mrs. S.: Not all fibroid tumors of the uterus or womb, are destined for surgery. Sometimes these fibroids do not grow in size and do not produce any symptoms. Some fibroids may even recede in size as time goes on.

Surgery is never an indiscriminate decision. The judgment to perform an operation is a conclusion that a surgeon arrives at judiciously. There are various types of fibroids. Some originate in the muscle of the womb, others lie on the surface, and some stem from the inner lining.

Fibroid tumors generally are benign, non-cancerous tumors. When there is excessive bleeding during and midway between the menstrual period, surgery may be given greater consideration.

Occasionally, a fibroid tumor may become large enough to press on the urinary bladder or the large intestine, producing symptoms of discomfort.

All tumors should be kept under observation. In your case, however, it does not necessarily mean that an operation is inevitable.

Patients must not put pressure on their doctors to perform surgery that may not be necessary.

We read that codeine is a drug that addicts use. Why, then, can it be bought over the counter without a prescription?

Mr. T. W. B. N. Y.

Dear Mr. B.: It is astonishing but true that the addictive drug codeine can be bought in some states without a prescription. Federal legislation is now going into effect to make this impossible.

I have known a great many addicts who spend a good part of the day collecting four ounces of cough syrup with codeine. They go from one drug store to another until they have accumulated enough for their "daily dose." It is outrageous that this is permitted by outdated and outmoded laws.

Besides the codeine, there is a fairly large quantity of alcohol that adds to the addictive problem.

Fortunately, there are many pharmacists who quickly become aware of this method of acquiring an addictive drug and refuse to foster such a dangerous habit.

Are X-rays ever used for treatment of bursitis of the shoulder?

Mr. L. R. Ga.

Dear Mr. R.: The use of X-ray is an accepted form of treatment for bursitis. It is probably being used less frequently now since cortisone has been found to be so effective when injected into the joint. Each case is evaluated individually by the doctor before any kind of treatment is started.

Campaign Myths

By JEFFERY HART

Beneath the small-arms fire of charge and counter-charge in our Presidential campaigns there have been, traditionally, two Big Berthas, and the rival parties tend to be seriously damaged only when one of the Big Berthas scores a hit.

The Democrats are especially vulnerable, historically, to one kind of attack, the Republicans to another. In a way, each of these vulnerabilities is a kind of myth. It is partly a fiction yet rooted in fact of a sort and therefore imaginatively powerful.

To put it bluntly: the Democrats score heavily when they can charge the Republicans with "corruption"; the Republicans score heavily when, in one way or another, they can charge the Democrats with "treason." And these historic myths are powerful at work in the present campaign. They are powerful, moreover, because each has a whiff of historical substance.

The Republican charge of "treason" has its roots in the origins of the nation, and is foreshadowed in George Washington's warning in his Farewell Address against "foreign entanglements." Everyone understood that the old President meant the sympathy of the radical Jeffersonians for the French Revolution. Beware of fellow-traveling with Robespierre and the Jacobins, Washington was telling the distant ancestors of our modern liberal Democrats.

Again, at the time of the Civil War, the Democrats were open to the charge of disloyalty. The party had a strong Southern wing, with potent claims to represent the Jeffersonian tradition, and many in its Northern branch were pro-South and anti-war. Republican orators openly branded these Democrats traitors to the Union thus further reinforcing the myth.

The post-WW II period, the Democrats have been entangled again, like Laocoon amid the serpents, with the imputation of "treason" — first of the Alger Hiss, Harry Dexter White sort, more recently of the New Left, Castroite, Vietnik variety. It is not too much to say that every major Republican campaign speech will touch, in one way or another, on this vulnerability. Linking the Democrats with "protesters in the street," or with "amnesty," or with Ramsey Clark in Hanoi are only a few of the most obvious ploys.

The Republican vulnerability to the "corruption" charge has similar roots in history, beginning in the scandals of the Grant Administration and confirmed by the post-Civil War industrial boom and the period of the Robber Barons. The Republicans were perceived as the party of big business, and it was widely assumed that the fix was always in. First the Teapot Dome scandals under Harding, then the revelations of shady Wall Street operations reinforced the myth.

And the myth is a powerful one. Had it not existed, Sherman Adams would never have had to resign over accepting a vicuna coat from Bennie Goldfine. But like, finely attuned to the deeper emotions of American politics, knew that a Republican had to be "clean as a hound's tooth."

In 1972, the Democrats in my opinion are wasting too much time on the Watergate caper. It engages none of the profound emotions of our politics. Fundamentally, no one cares whether Larry O'Brien's phone was bugged; if anything, he seems a bit of a chump for not de-bugging it. The Democrats can do much more damage if they use the myth, and stress things like the ITT affair, the grain deal charges and the Republican corporate tie-ins. These would gain power from the entire rhetorical tradition of American politics.

CHALMERS P. WYLIE

In Fiscal Year 1972, over 500,000 deportable aliens were located in the United States and almost that many were removed from our borders. It is significant that the number of illegal aliens deported in recent years exceeds the number who were admitted for lawful residence under the immigration laws. Although the Immigration and Nationality Act imposes criminal penalties on aliens who illegally enter, it has proved to be an ineffective deterrent in the case of aliens who illegally enter the United States for the sole purpose of finding employment.

In such situations the authorities are reluctant to prosecute and when prosecutions are instituted, juries are reluctant to convict. The adverse impact of over 1 million illegal aliens on employment, welfare programs, and the balance of payments is overwhelming. The Department of Labor has determined that these aliens take jobs that would otherwise be filled by American workers, depress wages and increase the burden on the taxpayer.

In an effort to alleviate this situation, the House, on Tuesday, passed a bill making it unlawful to knowingly hire an alien who has not been lawfully admitted for permanent residence or not authorized by the United States Attorney General to work while in the U. S. The measure establishes procedures for the imposition of sanctions against employers who hire illegal aliens. This bill could be an important step toward correcting a situation that has grown to serious proportions.

Since early 1969, one of the priority proposals of the Nixon Administration has been a program to share federal tax revenues with state and local governments. After several years of partisan squabbling, the House Committee on Ways and Means finally reported the State and Local Fiscal Assistance Act of 1972 which passed the House in June. On Tuesday, after extensive debate colored by election year oratory, the Senate approved a $3.5 billion revenue sharing measure to aid the states and their political subdivisions.

The Senate bill's revenue sharing formula to states and localities is based on population, tax effort and relative poverty. In the bill, as passed by the House, the payout formula to the states would include urbanized population, and state and local income tax efforts as additional factors.

Both bills provide that the monies will come from a special Treasury trust fund financed by 7 per cent of all personal income taxes collected. One third of these funds will go to state governments and the rest to counties, towns and cities. The Senate bill is also different from the House version in that it lacks a number of restrictions on the use of funds that were contained in the House bill. These differences will have to be resolved in a Conference Committee.

Since this concept was first proposed to the Congress, I have supported its passage. In many sections of the U.S., state and local governments have completely exhausted their local tax base and are experiencing extreme difficulty in efforts to raise needed revenues. The federal government is probably the most efficient revenue raising entity in the world. It seems important that some of the federal tax revenues be shared with states and localities which are closer to people and their problems. Perhaps the money can be spent more efficiently in certain cases in this manner.

The major item passed by the House this week was the Fiscal Year 1973 appropriations bill for the Defense Department. In general it provides funds to support military personnel, armed forces retirement pensions, operation and maintenance, research and development and military procurement. Except for funding military activities in Indochina, it does not provide money for other military assistance programs, military construction, military family housing, or civil defense. These programs are provided for in separate measures.

In the area of procurement, it funds the following major weapons systems: the Safeguard antiballistic missile system in accordance with the SALT agreement, the Trident nuclear powered strategic missile launching submarine, the B-1 bomber which will replace the aging B-52s and the new F-14 and F-15 fighter bomber for the Air Force and Navy. The bill represents a $1.77 billion increase over last year's defense appropriation.

NEW YORK (AP) — A Siam-ese situation comedy, a Korean War collection of weelers and healers and a cute lady with a funny voice seeking happiness in the big city—all this is contained in the first 90 minutes of CBS' prime-time Sunday offerings this fall.
It may boost evening church attendance.
The three new shows—"Anna and the King," "M-A-S-H" and "The Sandy Duncan Show"—all have quality production. But the promised chuckles generally are as sporadic as sightings of Halley's Comet.
"Anna," adapted from Broadway's long-running "The King and I," features original cast star Yul Brynner as the bull-headed King of Siam. Samantha Eggar, who wasn't present for the stage creation, appears in the new version as the young American widow-scholar who imported to teach the platoon of royal children.
It makes for a fine acting combination, but somehow the opening show just didn't come off, despite eye-catching sets and costumes.
Visually, the show was great. But its pace tended to drag, despite a few funny lines and scenes with the royal children that would warm even the heart of W.C. Fields.

FACIAL SURGERY — Entertainer Ann-Margret, above, underwent facial surgery at the UCLA Medical Center in Los Angeles for serious injuries sustained when she fell from a stage platform at a Lake Tahoe casino.

Ill-Fated Canine Lives Up To Name
BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — What's in a name? Well, it was a prophecy of doom for a dog named Gator Bait who was eaten by an alligator named Aloysius.
Gator Bait was the 5-month-old pet Dalmatian of the Roger Miller family, who live near Lake Floresta in this community north of Fort Lauderdale.
The last the family saw of their pet was "a yelp and a splash" and the gator known as Aloysius surfacing a few minutes later, chewing contentedly.

The proceedings were set in the era of Abraham Lincoln. Of more recent vintage was "M-A-S-H," which probably will draw some flak from the American Medical Association and ex-infantrymen who didn't think the Korean War was all that funny.

The series is based on the book and hit movie of the same name. All the characters are there—Hawkeye, Trapper John, Lt. Dish and Hot Lips—and so is the setting, a mobile Army hospital tenting on grounds a short helicopter ride from the battlefield.

Its debut was hip, fast and furious—a loudspeaker playing a recording of "My Blue Heaven" in Korean set the tone. But many of the spoken funnies fell flat, despite a spirited effort by the cast.

"M-A-S-H" has the basic ingredients for a good show. Its main problem will come from two factions: those who compare it to the movie and those who never saw the movie and thus are freshly shocked.

The picture came out at the height of U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war. It may have been a freak hit, a macabre, funny, but temporary lancing of a festering boil raised by too many headlines about to many American casualties in too long a war.

It nicely caught the lunacy and humanity of medical folk in any war. But whether a series of half-hour sagas can do this is another matter, although television's "M-A-S-H" certainly is trying hard enough.

Sandy Duncan's new and revamped show appears the weakest of the CBS Sunday night series. It just seems to roll on as another working girl comedy in which the girl works hard for laughs to no avail.

Her next Sunday outing may prove better, but her opening show had just one "ha" in it for the folks at home. She has the talent for delivering a funny line; it now is up to her writers to give her show more than one.

Paulding County Pollution Halt Is Negotiated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Negotiations were being conducted between the state attorney general's office and Stokley Van Camp Co. concerning orders from the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board that firm's Paulding County plant stop polluting Possum Run.
The Stokley plant was ordered by the board Sept. 1, to provide new waste treatment facilities for its plant or improve present facilities. At that time, Stokley asked hearings be held on the order and the case was turned over to the state attorney general's office.
A spokesman for the attorney general's office said "new time limits" to comply with the orders were being set, the details of which will be released "in the near future."
A pre-hearing conference on the orders was held Sept. 13, the spokesman said. He added that he doubted a full hearing would be necessary in order to reach agreement concerning the orders.

OSU Zoology Prof Opens Project For Bugging The Birds

By RICHARD BILOTTI
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans named Bonasa Umbellus, Porzana Carolina, Rallus Carolina and Rallus Elegans are being bugged.

Prying electronic ears are invading the privacy of these quiet, peaceful residents of the state. They have no chance to challenge the invasion in the courts.

They are birds.
You may know them as the ruffed grouse, or the sora, Virginia and king rails.

Theodore A. Bookhout, the Ohio State University zoology professor who runs electronic surveillance on the grouse and rails, says it's all for the birds.

"One result of the studies will be that once the nesting habits of the birds are known, forest and marsh management practices by both the government and private business can be altered to benefit the birds," Bookhout said.

The birds aren't facing extinction, but commercial development of marshes and forests affect the breeding of the grouse and rails.

Birds can be bugged, Bookhout explained, by use of miniature radio transmitters strapped to their bodies. Then, the naturalist can pick up signals from the tiny transmitters weighing only 10 grams.

"Visual observation is valuable," Bookhout said, "but is impractical for nocturnal activity or for secretive species such as the rail. Live trapping and tagging also has its drawbacks. It tells the researcher only where the animal was at the time it was caught."

"By using miniature radio transmitters, however, the position of animals and birds can be monitored 24 hours a day."

Radio devices have been used to track bears and larger animals. The use of transmitters on light animals, such as the grouse and the rail, presents the problem of weight.

"The transmission package should not weigh more than four or five per cent of the weight of the body carrying it," Bookhout said. "Otherwise it will effect the life style of the animal you are studying and your research will be useless."

"For example, a large bear can safely be made to carry a powerful four pound transmitter with long range and endurance, but the rails under study weigh only three to five ounces and should not be given a load over 10 grams," he said.

The devices used by the university, if purchased on the market, cost about $60. However, Bookhout has enlisted the aid of the electronic students at the university who produce a transmitter for as little as $15.

Using transmitters to tail the birds makes it necessary to trap them and sometimes that causes problems. Marshal Moser, who did the grouse study in Zaleski State Forest, Vinton County, managed to trap about a dozen grouse.

"The males are easier to trap than the hens," Bookhout explained. When a male is looking for a mate he sits on a log and thumps his wings to attract the hen. And like the human species, his ego gets involved. So the trapper sets up a mirror trap on the grouse's mating log. When the male sees his image in the mirror, located inside a trap, he believes it is competition and attacks. Instead of chasing off the would be courtier the bird ends up captive.

The hen is not as easy to capture. One hundred-foot fences forming a "V" are placed out from traps and it is hoped that the hen will keep trying to find the end of the fence and eventually wind up in the trap.

Moser's study showed that "grouse were not narrowly confined to a particular few forest habitat types" and that "each bird behaved as an individual and a pattern of 'normal' movement was not evident."

Douglas A. Andrews, who conducted the study of the rails at Winous Point near Port Clinton in Ottawa County, was not as successful as Moser, Bookhout said. "Andrews had considerable difficulty in catching rails," he added, "and did not find any specific nesting patterns of the rail."

"It should be made clear that the use of electronic transmitters does not solve all the problems we have in studying the habits of wildlife and in many instances new problems are encountered," he said.

Many times the devices are broken when the birds go into heavy brush. Sometimes they fall off the birds and other times they just fail. But Bookhout said by combining visual observation, tagging, and trapping methods with radio transmitters comprehensive information can be gathered.

"Hunters are very interested in grouse and rail and their license fees pay for most of the expenses incurred by the Ohio Division of Wildlife," Bookhout stated. "We work closely with the Division of Wildlife and are all a part of the Ohio Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit."

In 1966 Bookhout used radio transmitters to study raccoons. Who will be put under a surveillance next?

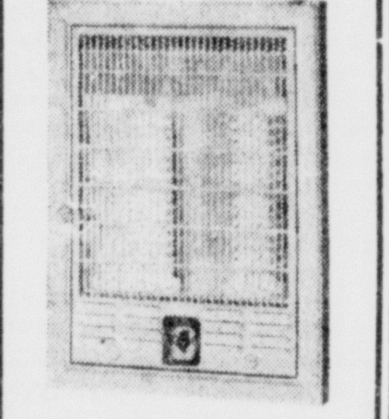

"Although specific plans haven't been made yet I'd like to tackle a study of wild turkeys in southern Ohio," Bookhout said.

Never put any kind of antiseptic on a burn.

Old Trails Chapter DAC Begins Season Meetings

Old Trails Chapter, Daughters of the American Colonists, held its first luncheon meeting of the year recently at the Lancaster Country Club with Mrs. Harry Rawlins as speaker. Choosing as her topic, "His And Hers At 1600 Pennsylvania Ave.," Mrs. Rawlins first discussed the "Voiceless Liberty Bell," the apathy toward our free country and the lack of interest in the patriots who have made it great.

Picking her favorite people who had lived in the White House, she told of the lives of Abraham and Mary Todd Lincoln, Lincoln's lonely but studious childhood, his unrequited love for Ann Rutledge, Mary's grief when their son died, her compulsive buying habits and her unstable emotional outbursts in public. She mentioned Lincoln's habit of carrying a joke book to cabinet meetings to read a few jokes when the discussions became too heated.

Old Hickory, the fiery Andrew Jackson, described by his mother as "the ornery little boy alive," had a stormy political life. There was much scandal when he married Rachel Donelson when her divorce was not final from her previous husband. He became a national hero in 1812, and backed by a powerful political organization, was elected president.

Dwight Eisenhower's life, including the story of his infected leg as a child, was told. The infection almost led to an amputation, but his mother's faith and prayers effected a miraculous cure.

Memorable women in the White House included Abigail Adams who was the only woman to have, dried her clothes in the east Room, and Dolly Madison who was the darling of Washington society, and the beautiful Jacqueline Kennedy who did much to restore the antiques and redecorate the White House.

Mrs. Rawlins discussed John F. Kennedy's death and drew the parallel in history between the deaths of Kennedy and Lincoln. From here she went on to the lives of Harry and Bess Truman who wanted to be known as the plain folks. Bess made no political speeches, did not appear often in public, loved to keep house, and at the end of Harry's political career just wanted to go home. Mrs. Rawlins closed with a salute by a press reporter to Hannah Nixon, Richard Nixon's mother, written the day before Nixon's inauguration.

Preceding the program, the meeting was called to order by the Regent, Mrs. Robert Fox. Mrs. Leroy H. Cromley led the members and guests in the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by devotions given by Mrs. Clarence Rowles. Mrs. Rowles then conducted memorial services for Mrs. Fred B. Atchinson and Mrs. Robert D. Hansberger.

The Regent welcomed two guests, Mrs. John Van Gundy, and Mrs. James Fosnaugh, and thanked the committee for the day; Mrs. A. B. Van Gundy, chairman; Mrs. Loren Shaw, and Mrs. C. K. Cunningham. Mrs. Franklin Brink served as treasurer in the absence of Mrs. Verne Silbaugh. Mrs. Samuel Fuller, Vice Regent and program chairman announced that the next meeting will be Nov. 8th at the Delaware Women's Club with a tour of the Delaware Historical Society Museum.

Mass Of Plastic Mystery Solved

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — The mystery of the mass of plastic has been solved.

The plastic found on the Herbert Jackson farm at nearby Sardinia Saturday night was identified Monday as remains of a scientific research balloon.

Gordon Kirshman, electronics technician at Raven Industries, Inc., at Cape Gerardeau, Mo., said the balloon was used by the University of Chicago in performance of a naval research contract.

Wheat Deal Windfalls In Millions?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Farmers Union said Monday that big grain companies easily could have collected windfall profits of $100 million under export-subsidy maneuvering allowed by the Agriculture Department in wheat sales to the Soviet Union.

Weldon V. Barton, NFU legislative representative, told Congress in prepared testimony that the $100-million figure was only a possibility, however.

"Actual windfalls have been, or will be, realized to the extent that certain grain-trade companies had 'inside' information on which they could gamble on staggering their contracting for sale to the Soviets or other countries and their booking for export subsidies," Barton said.

A house subcommittee is checking into allegations that some private exporting companies had advance or inside information on sales and subsidies.

River Oil Spill Said Contained

ST. MARYS, W. Va. (AP) — The bulk of the oil spilled into the Ohio River Friday as the result of a collision between two barges is believed contained in one of the lock chambers at the Willow Island Dam near here.

An official of the Environmental Protection Agency in Wheeling today said his office was directing the cleanup in cooperation with Ashland Oil, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and U.S. Coast Guard.

An estimated 50,000 to 60,000 gallons of fuel oil spilled into the river late Friday when four coal barges, owned by Ohio River Coal Co. collided with a tow of 20 oil barges.

Heath Opens Visit With Japanese

TOKYO (AP) — British prime minister Edward Heath, sightseeing before talks with Japanese leaders, plunged enthusiastically into touring an old shrine in a mountain resort of Nikko.

Following custom, Heath shed his shoes before entering the 300-year old Toshogu Shrine on Sunday, but found Japanese-style slippers weren't easy to walk in. Nevertheless, he emerged praising the decorations of the gilded wooden buildings.

$1.3 Million Allocated For Multiple Sclerosis

Some of the finest minds in medical science believe today that the search for the cause, prevention and treatment of multiple sclerosis may be reaching a climax, according to Flavian T. Becker, chairman of the Greater Cincinnati Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Becker said the National Society has allocated this year $1,349,000 in research grants and fellowships to scientists studying multiple sclerosis, the great crippler of young adults. Since its inception in 1947, the Society has allocated more than $18 million for research into MS.

Becker pointed out that polio, smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid fever and tuberculosis have been virtually eradicated in this country, but that multiple sclerosis remains a mystery. "We don't know the cause of it," he said, "how to prevent it or how to treat it, yet an estimated 500,000 Americans suffer from MS and closely related disorders."

"Still," Becker said, "the feeling is strong within the medical community that the answer to this disease that most often strikes between the ages of 20 and 40 years will be found before too long."

Dr. Jonas Salk, a pioneer in the development of the polio vaccine, has said: "Every disease has its time, and the time has arrived to find the answer to MS."

According to Dr. H. Houston Merritt, Dean Emeritus of Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons, "There is more likelihood of making progress in MS research than at any time in the known history of the disease."

Becker said that multiple sclerosis is a disabling disease of the central nervous system. It attacks the substance which sheathes nerve fibers, causing the nerve impulses which control movement, vision, speech and balance to be distorted, often blocked.

According to Mr. Becker, research today is centering around the theories that multiple sclerosis may be caused by a slow-acting virus or by an abnormal immune response in which the body actually rejects a part of itself — as has been noted recently in heart transplant cases.

Some researchers, he said, are leaning toward an idea encompassing both theories; that is, that a slow-acting virus may trigger an autoimmune response, resulting in the destruction and scarring of the sheathing surrounding the nerves.

Becker emphasized that nationwide interest and the support of an aroused public is vital to the continuing research into MS. "We feel we are on the verge of finding the answers we need," he said. "We cannot stop now."

Presidential Vote Drive Again Focuses On Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The presidential campaign focuses on Ohio again this week as top guns of both parties come to this crucial state.

Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern and Vice President Spiro Agnew both will be in Columbus Wednesday.

For McGovern, it will be second visit to Ohio this week. He planned an afternoon stop at Cincinnati today for a quick tour of a local plant and some interviews before going on to Illinois tonight.

The South Dakota senator will fly to Columbus Tuesday night. After an airport rally, to be attended by Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, and a meeting with Gov. John Gilligan, he will spend the night in the governor's mansion and visit the Western Electric Co. plant in the morning.

McGovern's Wednesday schedule still is incomplete, but aides said he might deliver a speech from the Statehouse steps.

Agnew will be in Columbus Wednesday night to address the 1972 Republican State convention. Nearly 3,000 Republicans from around the state are expected to hear his speech in a downtown theater.

It will be the first time in modern Ohio political history a vice president has addressed a state GOP convention. However, several vice presidential candidates have appeared at conventions, including Richard Nixon when he was running with the late Dwight Eisenhower in 1952.

In weekend political activity, Republican dignitaries helped Saturday kickoff a GOP national voter registration drive by opening neighborhood campaign offices around the state.

Tricia Nixon Cox, eldest daughter of the President, and her husband, Edward, opened offices in Columbus and Cincinnati, respectively; Virginia Gov. Linwood Holton was in Dayton and Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Elliot Richardson was in Cleveland.

After opening the offices, they shouldered canvassing kits and marched door-to-door, chatting with passersby and distributing canvass cards and other campaign literature.

Mrs. Cox spent two hours shaking hands and ringing doorbells in the Columbus suburb of Grandview Heights without meeting a single supporter of her father's Democratic opponent.

'Mellow' Agnew Opens Campaign

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is putting his 1972-model campaign on the road today to boast of the Republican record after renouncing the hard-line tactics that were his two years ago.

He begins with a tour that will take him to eight states in nine days. Aides said Agnew probably will be campaigning four days a week until the Nov. 7 election.

But he apparently is not taking along the dictionary that gave him such epithets as "troglydetic leftists" and "vicars of vacillation" to hurl at Democrats in the 1970 campaign. And gone are the "radical liberals" who used to make up his political demagoguery. Agnew has said he regrets using that phrase, the keynote of his 1970 campaign, because it was misunderstood.

Obviously, neither the new Agnew campaign style nor the old was designed by the vice president without the concurrence and instruction of his boss, President Nixon.

Ohio Utilities Plan Replies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A spokesman for the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio said Monday power companies will be given 15 days to respond to a charge they are aggravating the national energy crisis by encouraging more use of electricity.

Based on the responses of the utilities, the PUCO spokesman said, the commission will decide whether a public hearing should be held on the complaint filed by the Ohio Public Interest Action Group.

The OPIAG, formed under the auspices of consumer advocate Ralph Nader, asked the PUCO to order a halt to all advertising and promotional activity that encourages the use of power.

It also contended that advertising expenses increase utility rates and are unnecessary to the companies' survival since each is a "regional monopolist" and electricity is "a necessity in modern America."

Named in the complaint were the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co., Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., Dayton Power and Light Co., Ohio Edison Co., Ohio Power Co. and Toledo Edison Co.

Man Begins Term For Robbery, Escape

CINCINNATI (AP) — Lorenzo Pryor, 19, of Cincinnati will begin serving two indefinite terms in the Ohio State Reformatory on charges of escape from restraint, and armed robbery.

Pryor was sentenced Monday after pleading guilty to the charges before Judge John Keefe of Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

As Agnew put it himself, the vice president is "the president's man." He is also the president's campaigner, and a low-key approach fits the current Nixon game plan.

It also casts Agnew in an image far more likely than that of 1970 to help him in any campaign for presidential nomination four years hence.

After his renomination in Miami Beach, Agnew said he would campaign totally on the issues this year, and not as a partisan "cutting edge."

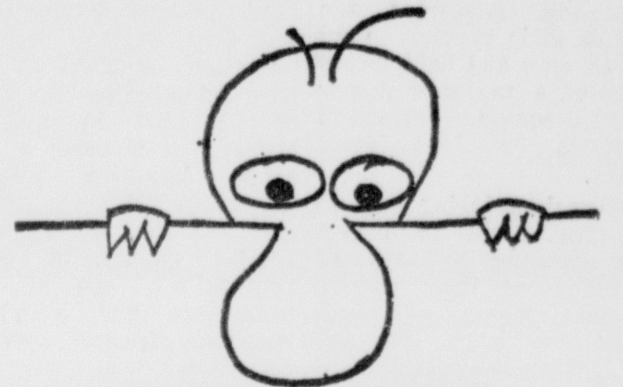

He said then that he was distressed at "the generalized identity that I received" in the campaign of 1968 and 1970, and would like to obliterate that.

Now, after nearly a month for the interim of the old campaign image, Agnew is heading for Minneapolis, St. Louis, Columbus, Ohio, Nashville and Chattanooga, Tenn., Winston-Salem, N.C., and Louisville, Ky. That takes him through Saturday. Stops in Texas and Illinois are scheduled next week.

Six of those states have Senate contests this year, and Agnew is expected to devote increasing attention to boosting Republican congressional campaigners as the election draws closer.

In a preview of what he said will be his new campaign style, Agnew went to Las Vegas a week ago to tell a union meeting the administration is on the right road toward solving the

Auto Repair Guarantee To Cover Parts, Labor

Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers will guarantee the quality of their repairs on all Ford-built cars and light trucks as part of a major customer satisfaction program announced this month by Ford Motor Company.

Local dealers taking part in the program will provide a quality guarantee of 90-days or 4,000 miles on their service work for owners of Ford, Mercury and Lincoln cars and Ford Light trucks, regardless of a vehicle's age. If a repair or parts replacement falls within that period, dealers will perform necessary repairs (parts and labor) free of charge.

The quality guarantee is one of several service improvements being introduced by Ford Customer Service Division and area dealers this fall. Described by Ford as "The most extensive service program of its kind in automotive history," it includes a million dollar incentive plan for dealerships service employees that lets local customers rate service quality, a certified training program for technicians and a toll free telephone directory service for customers who want Ford assistance.

The first nationwide plan to reward service employees for quality workmanship, Ford's "Service All-Star" incentive program offers awards totaling more than a million dollars each year to mechanics and service advisers who "score high" in satisfying customers. Local residents help determine winners by grading technicians on "report cards" each time they visit their dealer for service work.

To help dealers and their technicians provide quality repair service, Ford also has launched a certified training program that gives dealership service employees the latest technical repair information from Detroit almost day to day. Year-round training includes monthly examinations that qualify winners for 26,000 prizes worth more than $250,000. The program supplements classroom instruction offered at 39 Ford service schools across the country.

In addition, Ford Customer Service Division annually will award a Distinguished Service Citation to Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers with high customer satisfaction rates and efficiently run service departments.

Ford Customer service division last year opened offices in 34 major cities across the country to assist dealers and their customers with service problems. As part of its new program, the division this fall will provide a national toll-free telephone directory service to give Ford, Mercury and Lincoln owners the address of the Ford service office nearest their homes. The toll-free, long distance number is 800-243-6000.

The new girl's gymnastics instructor for the Pickaway County Family YMCA is Mrs. Suzanne Kulik, physical education teacher at Logan Elm High School. Classes will start the week of October 2.

Mrs. Kulik is a graduate of Purdue University with a BA degree in physical education on the trampoline, uneven parallel bars, parallel bars, balance beam and side horse. She has worked previously with preschoolers in gymnastics and motor movement skills.

We are very happy to have Suzanne join our staff, said Harold Hewitt, YMCA Director. She will be teaching two girl's gymnastics classes for the YMCA: first thru sixth graders on Tuesdays, 3:30-5 p.m. and Junior and Senior High schoolers, Tuesdays, 6:30-8 p.m. to be held at the YMCA.

Other Youth classes (school age) included in the fall session are: guitar, baton clinic, judo, arts and crafts, weight lifting, and for the pre-schoolers-kiddie crafts, Y tots, acrobatics, and tiny tot baton.

Brochures may be obtained by calling the YMCA at 474-8621 or stopping in at the YMCA at 151 E. Franklin St. between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Gilligan Cousin Loser At State Fair, Control Board Told

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Fair Manager Vic Lucas told the Ohio Controlling Board Monday that a cousin of Gov. John Gilligan had "some connection" with two concessions at this year's exposition, and apparently lost money.

Lucas was asked to appear before the board after published reports on the business activities at the fair of Michael Joyce of Cleveland.

The first-year manager said Joyce had "some connection" with a restaurant operated by Concessions Unlimited, "but I don't know if it was financial. His name was not on the contract."

Joyce operated or helped run an ice cream concession, Lucas said, adding: "I understand he lost a lot of money on that."

Lucas said he had been told that Joyce "probably lost up to $6,000 on his activities at the fair."

He told the board that concessions at the fair traditionally have been let by contract without competitive bidding, but agreed with a suggestion by Rep. Robert Levitt, R-91, Canton, that perhaps competitive bidding should be started next year.

Contract letting also was the source of a brief partisan skirmish before the board approved $84,000 worth of printing work for the Taxation Department.

The work is for income tax forms and booklets for mailing to an estimated 4.3 million Ohio taxpayers who must file state income tax forms for the first time next year.

Levitt said the department had had enough time to contract for the printing with competitive bidding "as you are supposed to do under the law."

The taxation department request was to enter into a total of four contracts without bids.

Department officials contended it required six months of work to gain the information needed to prepare the forms and instructions.

They said it takes three weeks to advertise for bids and an additional 30 to 60 days for delivery, and that the amount of the printing made delivery a prime consideration. The tax forms are scheduled to go out right after Christmas.

The board also authorized the Department of Public Welfare to pay "reasonable costs" for out-patient treatment of Ohio's medically indigent.

Department officials estimated the increase in state subsidies will amount to about $2.8 million, but will generate $3.2 million more in federal funds for an over-all total of $6 million.

Gilligan called for the increase after meetings with department officials and the suppliers of health care for recipients of the federal Medicaid program.

Some hospitals in Cleveland and elsewhere said they were going broke as a result of the state's present "inadequate" flat payment of $10 per visit.

In other actions, the board authorized:

—Release of $93,700 for improvements to Brown and Hagerly Halls at Ohio State University and $87,000 for similar work at OSU's Stillman Hall. The board authorized expenditure of $20,000 for planning OSU's Southeastern Ohio Area Extension Center south of Cambridge in Morgan County.

—Various requests for state departments in the amount of $12.4 million for newly-voted state pay increases. In similar requests, the board released from their special funds $545,000 to the Highway Safety Department and $700,000 to the Department of Liquor Control. The amounts provide for pay increases over the period until next January 1.

—Release of $10,000 to the Agriculture Department to pay the state's 10 per cent share of hog destruction losses in Van Wert, Darke and Greene counties in the recent outbreak of hog cholera in Ohio. The federal government pays 90 per cent of the loss.

—Release of three requests totaling about $261,700 for state takeover costs of author Louis Bromfield's home, Malabar Farms, mostly for operating costs including farming operations. The Departments of Agriculture and Natural Resources are to operate the facility jointly.

—Expenditure of $19,221 for additional construction at Hocking Hills State Park in south-east Ohio.

—Expenditure of $650,502 for purchase of 179 school buses under a new formula raising state subsidies to school districts from 78 to about 85 per cent.

—Release of $62 million for the state's school foundation payment for the month of September.

—Expenditure of $3.9 million in previously-voted highway improvements.

—Release of $47,926 for the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home at Xenia for items and services included in its operating plan.

—Transfer of $50,000 from fiscal funds of last year of the Department of Personnel for its 1973 "temporary help" service rotary. The project provides parttime help for 22 state agencies.

—Release of $47,914 for sewage treatment facilities at Flushing and $2.2 million for similar facilities for Shawnee District No. 2 in Allen County — both at the request of the Ohio Water Development Authority.

Lavelle Aide To Be Asked Role In Unauthorized Raids

DENVER (AP) — Senators probing unauthorized U.S. bombing raids against North Vietnam fly to Denver today to question a second general implicated in the case.

Armed Services Committee Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., and Sens. Harold

Hughes, D-Iowa, and Peter Dominick, R-Colo., were due to arrive at midmorning to question Maj. Gen. Alton Slay, former 7th Air Force deputy chief of staff for operations and now head of the special training command at Denver's Lowry Air Force Base.

Slay was said to be recovering from a hernia operation at Fitzsimmons Hospital.

He served as deputy to Gen. John D. Lavelle, the 7th Air Force commander who was fired after higher officials learned that he had ordered unauthorized raids.

According to Stennis, Slay was implicated in testimony Friday by Col. Charles Gabriel, commander of the 342nd Reconnaissance Wing at Udorn, Thailand, during the raids last November through March.

Twenty-eight raids involving 147 aircraft hit North Vietnamese targets under the guise of "protective reaction" before renewed heavy bombing of the North was ordered by the White House. The committee is probing the circumstances of the raids as well as the broader question of civilian control of the military.

Gabriel, said Stennis, testified behind closed doors that "the targets were to be hit whether or not there was reaction" from the North Vietnamese.

As he understood Gabriel's testimony, Stennis said, the raids "were planned in advance—hostile fire or the equivalent, or not—and he was to make reports as if they met this hostile reaction."

Gabriel was quoted as saying he received those orders from Slay via telephone.

Air-war rules in effect at the time banned U.S. strikes against the North unless American planes were fired upon or there was strong evidence they were about to be attacked.

Youth Wins Case, Faces New Charge

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati teen-ager, who won an assault and battery conviction against a policeman, faces a new charge himself.

Waymond Bryant, 16, and two youths, aged 13 and 15, were charged Monday with rape in a complaint signed by the parents of a 14-year-old Queen City girl. The girl's parents said the incident took place Sunday night.

Bryant was taken into custody in June on a variety of charges but lodged a charge of assault and battery against Cincinnati patrolman Timothy Spurlock in connection with the arrest.

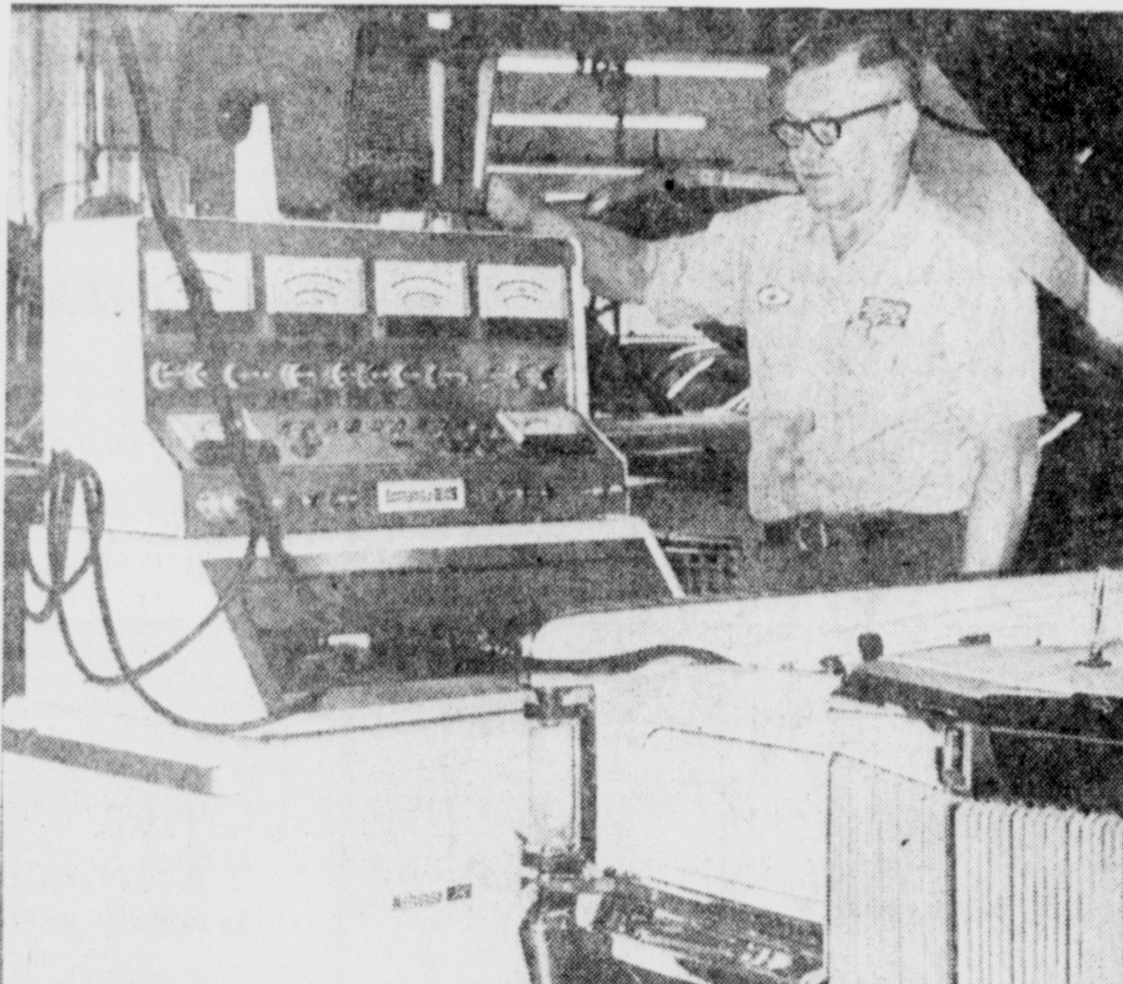

The incident in which Spurlock and Bryant were reported to have struggled brought protests of police brutality from some sectors of the black community here.

Bryant was convicted last week in Hamilton County Juvenile Court on charges of resisting an officer and trespassing. He was fined $10 on each charge.

Charges of assault and battery on a policeman and disorderly conduct were continued indefinitely.

Southern Cal Stays On Top In Football Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The powerful Trojans of Southern California appear in little danger of losing their No. 1 ranking in the Associated Press college football poll when they play Illinois Saturday.

The unbeaten Trojans retained their top ranking Monday in this week's poll following their 51-6 rout of Oregon State. At the same time it was disclosed that quarterback Mike Wells was a doubtful starter for the Illini.

Wells rejuvinated a finger on his throwing arm in last week's losing game against Michigan State. Without him, the Illini offense will be greatly hampered. As a result the Trojans will be favored more than ever to make it three in a row.

In Monday's voting the Trojans received 28 first-place votes and 920 of a possible 1,000 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The Oklahoma Sooners opened their season with a 49-0 trouncing of Utah State and took over second place with 11 firsts and 840 points.

Colorado slipped from second to third with 769 points followed by Ohio State at 622 and Tennessee at 615. Rounding out the Top Ten were UCLA, Alabama, Louisiana State, Nebraska and Arizona State.

Penn State topped the Second Ten followed by Michigan, Notre Dame, Texas, Washington, Georgia, Florida State, Michigan State, Stanford and Mississippi. Stanford and Michigan State moved into the Top Twenty as Purdue and Arkansas dropped out.

In addition to Southern Cal at Illinois other games this week involving the Top Twenty are:

Oregon at Oklahoma, Colorado at Minnesota, Wake Forest at Tennessee, Michigan at UCLA, Alabama vs. Kentucky at Birmingham, Texas A&M at Louisiana State, Nebraska at Army, Kansas State at Arizona State, Navy at Penn State, Notre Dame at Northwestern, Miami, Fla. at Texas, Washington at Purdue, Georgia at Tulane, Virginia Tech at Florida State, Georgia Tech at Michigan State, Stanford at Duke and Mississippi at South Carolina. Ohio State has an open date.

The Top Twenty teams, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points based on 29-18-16-14-12-10-9-8, etc.

Orioles Turn Back Red Sox, 5-2

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
If there were an unabridged dictionary for baseball, you'd find a simple definition for "money players." The synonym would be "Brooks Robinson."

Baltimore's defending American League champions journeyed to Boston for the start of a must series against the Red Sox Monday night and Robinson gave them the jump, drilling three hits to pace a 5-2 Orioles victory.

It was a typical performance for the Orioles old pro third baseman, who's always at his best in the clutch ball games.

Robinson had two singles and a double, scoring two runs and driving in another for the Orioles, now one game back of the Detroit which took over the East lead. Boston is squeezed into second place, one-half game behind, while the idle New York Yankees remained fourth, 2 games off the pace.

In Monday's other games on an abbreviated major league schedule, Cincinnati inched closer to the National League West crown by topping San Francisco 2-0. Pittsburgh's NL East clinching remained stalled with New York edging the Pirates 1-0. In the only other game played, Los Angeles edged San Diego 3-2 in 10 innings.

Cincinnati's victory reduced the Reds' magic number to five while the Pirates' fourth straight loss left their clinching number at three.

"We're just in a position where we can't lose," said Robinson. "You've got to fight like there's no tomorrow."

The Birds were trailing 1-0 in the fourth when Robinson opened with a double and scored the tying run on Dave Johnson's triple. Two innings later, the Birds had the lead with Robinson's single helping build the rally and Johnny Oates' double driving home one run and two-out single by pitcher Pat Dobson delivering the other.

Two more runs scored in the seventh, one on Don Baylor's pinch single and the other on Robinson's third hit to the game.

Johnny Bench gave San Francisco a taste of versatility as the Reds shut out the Giants.

First, the Cincinnati slugger crashed his 34th home run of the year for the first run of the game in the fourth inning. Then, two innings later, Bench shifted to his short ball offense, dumping a perfect squeeze but down the third base line to score Joe Morgan.

Jim McGlothlin surrendered eight hits in the first five innings but his shutout was preserved by outfielders Cesar Geronimo and Pete Rose who both threw out Giant runners on the basespaths. Clay Carroll pitched the ninth to complete the shutout.

The Mets got five-hit pitching from rookie Jon Matlack to beat Pittsburgh.

Matlack, 13-9, outdueled Nellie Briles, 14-8, with the game's only run scoring in the ninth inning on a single by Duffy Dyer. Rusty Staub, playing only his second game since June for New York, started the winning rally with a single.

Four 10th inning walks, the last one to Willie Crawford with two out, forced home the winning run as Los Angeles nipped San Diego.

Frank Robinson hit his 19th homer for the Dodgers and No. 522 for his career, moving into seventh place ahead of Ted Williams on the alltime list. It was also the 30th major league park in which the veteran slugger has homered, extending his own record.

Redskins Defeat Vikings, 24-21

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Bill Malinchak draws his National Football League salary chasing kickoffs and punts, charging the kickers and punters.

The seven-year veteran from Indiana, on the taxi squad last week, earned his paycheck Monday night as the Washington Redskins toppled the Minnesota Vikings 24-21 in a regular season opener.

Chargers Acquire End John Mackey

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Chargers have acquired tight end John Mackey and also have lost receiver Jerry Levas and safety Chris Fletcher for the remainder of the National Football League season.

Levas and Fletcher, both starters, underwent surgery for knee injuries suffered Sunday in San Diego's 34-3 loss to San Francisco.

Mackey, meanwhile, was signed as free agent Monday. The 10-year veteran, president of the National Football League Players' Association, was waived by the Baltimore Colts last week.

The National Football Foundation has bought a six-floor 65-room former mansion in New York City to serve as its national headquarters and college football Hall of Fame.

Malinchak blocked a punt, picked it up and ran for a touchdown. He recovered a fumble that led to the winning touchdown, and was on the field when teammate Ted Vactor blocked a field goal and deflected another.

"This is what a special teams' player always works for," said Malinchak. "It's something that rarely happens. But if you get a couple or three a year the special team has done its job."

Malinchak's touchdown came on Minnesota's first series of the game. The fumble recovery came on the kickoff after Larry Brown, who rushed for 105 yards on 21 carries, rolled in for a three-yard touchdown to give Washington a 17-14 lead with 12:52 to play.

Just 85 seconds later, Charley Harraway swept left end for a nine-yard touchdown run that put it away for the Redskins.

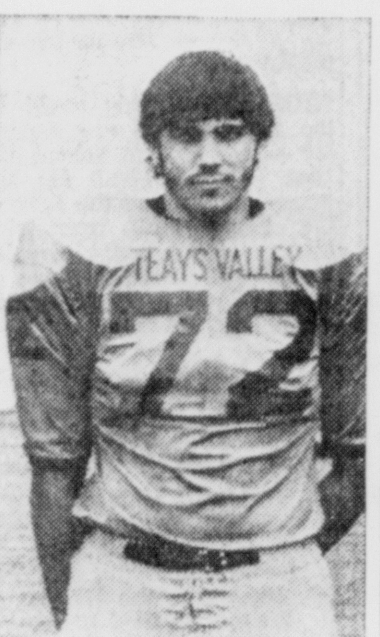

Asked why Malinchak was activated just a week after he was placed on waivers, Washington Coach George Allen said:

"Because he's a good special teams man."

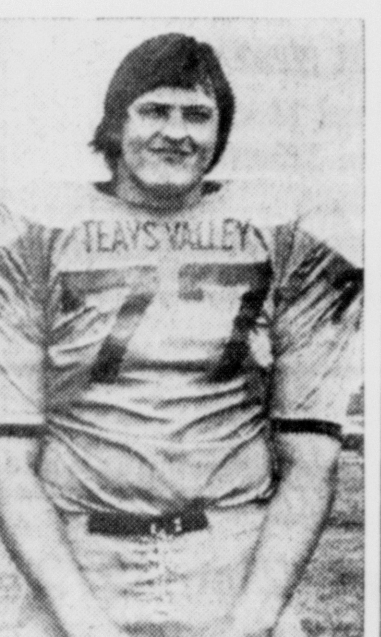

The Vikings outgained the Redskins 382 yards to 203 in total offense. Fran Tarkenton fired touchdown passes of 11 yards to John Gilliam, who made a spectacular one-handed falling catch in the third period for a 14-10 lead, and of 4 yards goal, a blocked field goal—the accumulation of that was too much to overcome," said Vikings Coach Bud Grant. "I don't care how much offense you have."

Palmer May

See Action

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Indians' new pitcher, right-hander Lovell Palmer, may get in on the action tonight that the Tribe hopes will help scotch the pennant drive of the Detroit Tigers.

Palmer, a 25-year-old obtained Monday on waivers from the St. Louis Cardinals, posted a 0-3 record in 16 appearances, two of them as starter. The Sacramento, Calif., pitcher has a 3.86 earned run average.

But it's Steve Dunning (4-2) who is the likely candidate to take the mound against the Tigers' southpaw Mickey Lolich (20-12) for half of tonight's twin bill. In the other half another Detroit lefty, John Hiller, faces the Indians' Bill Butler (0-0) or Milt Wilcox (7-13).

The Tigers arrive with a five-game winning streak but an 8-5 record against the Indians. They also have to worry about what's happening with the Baltimore Orioles in Boston and the New York Yankees in Milwaukee while the Tribe is doing its best scalping dance.

However this pair turns out, both clubs gets second dibs Wednesday night.

That doesn't finish the Indians' spoiler opportunities. They take on New York later in the week and then have four shots at the Orioles and two more at the Yanks before the season's last hurrah.

Bench Boosts Reds Over Giants, 2-0

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Bench gave the San Francisco Giants a double-barreled taste of his batting prowess Monday night. He produced one run with a 350-foot homer in the fourth inning and drove in another in the sixth with a 20-foot bunt.

"Both hits felt good," Bench said after the Cincinnati Reds blanked the Giants 2-0.

"On the bunt, I didn't have a signal on it, but I've tried it before and the other times the ball has just gone foul on me," Bench said. "I knew the element of surprise was there and all I was trying to do was keep the ball away from the pitcher."

The bunt came with two outs and Joe Morgan on third base. Jim Hart was playing about 20 feet behind third on the Astro-turf at Riverfront Stadium. "Somebody told me Hart was playing in the third row of the leftfield seats," Bench said jokingly.

Hart attempted to field the ball bare handed, but couldn't come up with it.

Jim McGlothlin, with relief from Clay Carroll in the ninth, made the two runs stand up, although he had to work out of jams in various innings.

"I hid pretty good stuff, but I was erratic at the start and was falling behind to the hitters," said McGlothlin who yielded eight hits, but walked only one man. "I certainly got a big help on outstanding fielding of (Cesar) Geronimo and (Pete) Rose who threw out batters."

With one of his low, rifle-like throws, Geronimo cut down Dave Kingman, who tried to move from first to third on a single by Dave Rader in the second inning.

In the fourth inning, Ken Henderson led off with a single and took second on McGlothlin's second wild pitch of the contest. He attempted to score as Kingman lined a single to left, but Rose threw him out easily at home.

"I think the possible turning point could have been that fourth inning," San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox said. "We could have had men on first and third with none out and the possibility of getting a run, or two for (Jim) Barr."

But the Giants didn't score and McGlothlin began to settle down. He retired 12 straight men before Henderson led off the ninth with a double.

Then Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson called on his relief ace Clay Carroll who disposed of the first two men he faced and met pinchhitter Willie McCovey.

McCovey slammed a ball well out of the park down the right field line, but it went a few feet foul.

"I think I heard my heart stop until it went foul," said Carroll, who picked up his 30th save. "Yes, I was scared."

The performance marked the fifth time Carroll has collaborated with a Cincinnati starter for a shut out. In all five cases, it has been a different starter.

Brown Credits Film Study With Cincy Bengals Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — A sharp study of New England game films, not a "cloak and dagger job," helped Cincinnati's defense turn in an outstanding effort against the Patriots Sunday, Bengals Coach Paul Brown says.

The Bengals romped over the Patriots 31-7 and New England's only touchdown came on a runback of a blocked field goal. Cincinnati's alertness on defense prompted New England running back Carl Garrett to say, "They were wired in."

New England quarterback Jim Plunkett said, "Sometimes they were almost calling our plays before I did."

Brown said the defense knew when one particular play was going to be used because films "show that every time they get ready to run a sweep their blocker out on the end would get out about four feet wider to help block."

Bengals defensive line coach Chuck Studley said that the team picked up "two big tips" from the films of New England's pre-season games.

"When they were going to run their sweeps, they 'tilt' their backs out to the wide side," Studley said. "If they were going to the strong side, they moved them back."

Bengals defensive captain Royce Berry also credited the films for enabling Cincinnati to play a better game, and said that "we found out in a hurry in the game how Plunkett checks off . . . He calls the signal and the color very slowly and fluidly, different than when he's just calling 'dummy' signals" and isn't changing the play after the team gets to the line.

The victory for the Bengals came just one week after the Atlanta Falcons ran through and passed over Cincinnati's porous defense. The result was a 44-14 exhibition victory for Atlanta.

Zimmer Is Rehired

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Don Zimmer, unable to lead the San Diego Padres out of the National League West cellar in his managerial debut this season, will get another change next year.

Zimmer was rehired Monday for the 1973 season by Padre president E.J. "Buzie" Bavasi. Zimmer marked the occasion by getting thrown out of the game against Los Angeles. The Dodgers won, 3-2.

HILL CLIMBER—A member of the newly formed Saltcreek Valley Motorcycle Club tests the course at the Cycle Trail Motorcycle Park which will be the headquarters of the club.

Cycle Trails Park New Home Of Saltcreek Valley Club

A new motorcycle club has been formed in the Laurelville-Adelphi area. The club's name is "The Saltcreek Valley Motorcycle Club."

John Karshner II, was elected president, Doyle Disbennet elected vice president, Danny Delong Jr., treasurer and Max L. Young, referee. Club members are Rick Elkins, Laurelville, John Swackhamer, Laurelville, Gary Stauffer, Chillicothe, Gary Stevens, Laurelville, Carl Vandagriff, Laurelville, T. J. Willis, Laurelville, Doug Baldwin, Laurelville, Jerry Wharf, Circleville; Gerry Poling, Laurelville; and Phil Karshner, Adelphi.

The club meets the first Monday of each month and uses Cycle Trails Motorcycle Park as its headquarters. An AMA sanctioned Amateur Motorcross Race is being sponsored by the club at Cycle Trails on October 15, 1972. Club membership is extended to all motorcycle enthusiasts. For further information contact John P. Karshner, II, Route 1, Laurelville, Ohio 43135 or phone 655-2997. The club plans to be active in sponsoring events including: enduros, hare and hound races, hillclimbs, and short track racing.

Cycle Trails Motorcycle Park, centered around the motorcycle enthusiast, is having its grand opening in South Central Ohio September 23. The Motorcycle Park is located 45 miles south of Columbus just off State Route 56 on State Route 180 between Laurelville and Adelphi at the gateway to The Hocking Hills Recreational Area.

THE Moto-Cross track at Cycle Trails features a 7-10 mile course with fantastic jumps, difficult hair-pin turns, and straightaways for some terrific high speed duels between men and machines. Even for the experienced moto-cross rider, the track is difficult to become adjusted to. For the spectator the layout of the track is nearly perfect, with better than 85 per cent of the track being visible at any one time. All the thrills and action of the jumps, hair-pins, and the straightaways takes place right in front of the spectator area.

The Hillclimb at Cycle Trails was bulldozed out of a series of sheer cliffs rising up from Saltcreek. Billie Elkins and his brother Larry used two bulldozers with one stationed at the top of the hill winning the other dozer up and down the cliff. Doyle Disbennet, a native of Laurelville, Ohio and currently the U.S. and Canadian Motorcycle Hillclimbing Champion helped in laying out the hillclimb. After completing the climb, Disbennet was the first over the top after six tries to prove that the hill could be climbed with a standard enduro-moto-cross type cycle.

The Enduro course at Cycle Trails is an excellent trail for beginners or those wishing to increase their enduro abilities. The circuit is 3.5 miles, winding through creek bottoms, pine forests, and rolling-to-rough open terrain with an occasional hillclimb here and there to make it challenging.

A short-scrambles track is especially designed for beginning motorcyclists. It has small jumps and tight curves and is visible to all riders and spectators.

A short track is planned and its construction will begin later this fall with the completion scheduled for the 1973 season.

Classes will be held, beginning next spring, at Cycle Trails for beginners in hillclimbing, moto-cross, scrambles, and enduro riding. Registration for spring classes is currently under way.

Primitive camping for tent or trailers is being completed, with sites ranging from wooded areas on Saltcreek to campsites high above the valley in a pine forest. Campers may choose locations close to or far from the tracks. Other planned future additions will be: horse shoe pitching courts, tennis and volleyball courts, target shooting range, 9 hole golf course and a golf driving range. Excellent fishing is available on Saltcreek, one of the few unpolluted streams left in Ohio. Bird-watchers will find many varieties and species of birds in the area as it is one the eastern edge of an area known as "The Prairie" and has long been a favorite spot for bird watchers.

Dave Wottle Day Today In Canton

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — It's Dave Wottle Day in Canton, and scores of area youngsters already have souvenirs—autographed mesh golfer-style caps like the one worn by the Olympic Gold Medal-winning runner.

Wottle came home Monday night to the acclaim of about 3,000 persons who met him either at the Akron-Canton airport as he arrived by private plane or at Memorial Field House later.

Night Prep Grid Games To Continue

CLEVELAND (AP) — Area school athletic and administrative officials say they want to continue holding sports events at night despite recent violence at some such contests.

During or after three Friday night games and one on Saturday night, 11 youths were beaten or stabbed.

"My feeling is that the games themselves, although responsible for drawing crowds, were not directly responsible" for the violence, said James H. Misch, director of secondary schools and one of those appointed to look into the incidents accompanying West Tech-Padua Franciscan and John Marshall-Avon Lake games.

"The incident following the John Marshall game, for example, happened about 45 minutes after the game," he said. "I don't think we've reached the point of abolishing night football."

Coach Lou Ralston of West Tech said he felt "we would be catering to a few" by doing so.

One of the youths stabbed Saturday night after the Lorain Catholic-Clearview game, 17-year-old defensive halfback Victor Garcia of Lorain Catholic, said the incident "was an accident; someone got carried away."

"If they take away night football," he added, "they're taking the game away from the teams and the fans."

One of his lungs collapsed after his rib cage was pierced by a knife.

Seniors Qualifier Being Held

SHARON, Ohio (AP) — A field of 132 shot a second qualifying round today in the national Seniors Amateur Golf Championship that was to reduce their numbers to 32.

John Tullio of Cleveland led with a 73 going into the second round. Don Draper of Troy, Mich., defending champion, was well back with 78.

Tullio, who saved par three times and birdied the 11th hole Monday, said "you have to get that second shot within 20 feet of the flag to get your pars" on the course near Akron.

Rain interrupted play Monday for a little over an hour.

Six players were bunched one stroke behind Tullio with 74s. They included William Hyndman III of Philadelphia; Eugene Tanno of Menlow Park, Calif.; Tim Holland, Wenham, Mass.; C. C. Hightower, Avondale, Ga.; Howard Everett, Tequesta, Fla.; and Ralph Ellstrom, Dearborn, Mich.

Carl Olson Winner Of U.S. Drag Crown

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Don Garlits and Tommy Ivo are regarded as two top drivers in the AA-Fuel Dragster division, but Carl Olson beat them both in the U.S. Open Drag Championships.

Olson pushed his Chrysler-powered dragster to a run of 6.26 seconds at a speed of 21.67 miles per hour over the quarter-mile strip to beat Ivo Monday in the rain-delayed finals. Sunday, before a storm postponed the championship runs, Olson beat Garlits with the best elapsed time, 6.2 seconds.

SPORTS Highlights

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — One of professional golfing's top women money winners has filed suit against the Ladies Professional Golf Association in U.S. District Court here asking that the LPGA be ordered to stop interfering with her "freedom of speech and pursuit of her chosen profession."

Sandra Palmer, reprimanded by the association last month for coming to the defense of Jane Blalock in her dispute with the LPGA, filed the suit Friday.

CHICAGO (AP)—Rufus "Roadrunner" Ferguson, one of the most exciting runners in Wisconsin history, has been named the Big Ten's top player on offense this week by the Associated Press.

Ferguson, who holds practically all of Wisconsin's rushing records cut lose again Saturday to lead the Badgers to a 31-7 triumph over Northern Illinois.

Pat Nixon Opens Campaign Swing Across Many States

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Pat Nixon fielded tough questions on the Vietnam war, the Watergate bugging, Martha Mitchell and abortion on her first day of a week-long cross country campaign trip.

Then, she headed for the calm wilderness of Yellowstone National Park today to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the designation of that unique natural setting of volcanic geysers and hot springs as a park.

Mrs. Nixon is spanning the country with stops in seven states in her most ambitious solo campaign swing. Chicago police stopped city traffic so she could make her motorcade rounds.

She stopped in to congratulate volunteers who were working for her husband's re-election at campaign headquarters in Chicago's "Magnificent Mile" downtown area.

They promised her "Chicago for Nixon in '72."

With Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, Mrs. Nixon went to ceremonies for 236 newly naturalized American citizens, who will have their first vote this November.

At an afternoon "press conference," Mrs. Nixon faced some of the hardest questioning she has had as First Lady.

She made these points:

—She would "be willing to die to save freedom" for 17 million South Vietnamese people "who are now having aggression against them with the idea of taking away their freedom and their country."

—The bugging of Democratic national headquarters at the Watergate complex in Washington won't hurt Nixon's chance for re-election — "I think it's blown completely out of proportion. I think the (GOP campaign) chairman answered all the questions on it." She said the people know that "he (Nixon) has no part of it."

—She opposes "on demand" abortion; it is a personal matter and one to be left to the states to decide.

Mrs. Nixon was asked if it bothered her that former Cabinet wife Martha Mitchell says she was manhandled by a man who has since been promoted to head the Nixon campaign security forces.

"Well, I don't know anything about what happened in her room," Mrs. Nixon said regarding Mrs. Mitchell's reports of alleged efforts to restrain her.

"I only know what I read in the papers."

John W. Pollard, 27, Route 1, Ashville, was fined $15 and costs for speeding 74 miles per hour in a 60 zone.

Mayor Mum On Charges In Findlay

FINLAY, Ohio (AP) — Mayor John Sausser declined to present evidence on 37 charges against Police Chief Morris Frankhauser at a civil service commission hearing Monday, apparently clearing way for Frankhauser's reinstatement.

Sausser had demoted Frankhauser and his assistant, Lt. Warren Cornelius, on July 21, charging them with malfeasance and misfeasance in office.

The two appealed to the civil service commission, and a trial board was to start hearing evidence on the charges against Frankhauser Monday.

But Sausser, saying he was acting in the "best interest of the community," elected not to present the evidence. Frankhauser's attorneys immediately moved for dismissal of the charges, and the board took the motion under advisement.

The mayor reportedly plans to act similarly Friday when the board holds a hearing on Cornelius' appeal.

The board will forward recommendations to the full commission, which will make the final decisions in the cases.

Mottl Confident Ohio Lottery Amendment To Be On Ballot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Ronald Mottl is confident a constitutional amendment to permit a state lottery in Ohio will be on the May primary ballot.

He anticipates "no trouble" from the Ohio House leadership in bringing the lottery resolution to a floor vote after the General assembly reconvenes at the end of the year.

Mottl said House passage of the measure, which cleared the Senate last June, looks "good," although "very close."

"I think some (members) who voted against it last time will vote for it this time simply because they're not up for reelection," the Parma Democrat said.

Actually, Mottl's resolution was approved by both houses of the legislature early this year, but the amendment proposal was thrown off the 1972 primary ballot by the Ohio Supreme Court because of alleged delays in filing and in advertising ballot issues in one county.

Mottl said Ohio is "losing millions of dollars a year to states which hold lotteries."

He said projections that Ohio could "net $115 million per year" in lottery money, "will drop $15 million" when Michigan activates its lottery Dec. 1.

"If Ohio had a lottery, we could take advantage of West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois," Mottl said. "But the longer we wait, the more money we lose."

Mottl said no state that he

Syria Holds U.S. Attache

BEIRUT (P) — The Syrian government has detained the assistant military attache of the U.S. Embassy in Amman, Jordan, diplomatic sources said today.

They said Maj. Richard Barrett was arrested Sept. 9 at Deraa, the crossing point from Jordan into Syria.

All efforts to secure his release thus far have been unsuccessful, the sources said.

No reason for the arrest was given, the sources said. Syrian officials reached by telephone from Beirut said they had no comment on the incident.

Barrett was on his way to Beirut where his wife and child have been living since his assignment to Amman three weeks ago.

The United States has no diplomatic relations with Syria, which broke ties during the 1967 Middle East war. The Italian embassy in Damascus is in charge of U.S. interests. Italian diplomats were not immediately available for comment.

Sources said the United States tried to secure Barrett's release through quiet diplomatic efforts, with Lebanon as a go-between. When this did not produce results the United States asked the Italian Embassy in Damascus to take up the case.

Area Students Reminded Of Testing Dates

Five opportunities to take the ACT assessment are offered to Pickaway County high school students during the 1972-73 academic year.

Students of Westfall, Circleville, Logan Elm and Teays Valley who are planning to attend a college, technical school or nursing school or other post high school education, may make use of the tests to assist in pre-college planning.

The first of five national testing dates on which the examination will be offered is Saturday morning, Oct. 21, at 8 a.m. at Circleville High School. Registration must be completed by Oct. 2.

On the other four testing dates, students must take the test at the Chillicothe Branch of Ohio University.

Cost to students for the ACT Assessment, which takes about 3½ hours to complete, is $6.50.

The five-part examination questionnaire is required or recommended for applicants at more than 2,000 colleges, universities, two-year colleges, scholarship agencies, athletic conferences, technical schools and nursing schools.

The ACT Assessment includes a series of four tests designed to assess general education development. Another part is a questionnaire that collects information about the students' academic and nonacademic background, immediate plans for college and career aspirations.

It is generally recommended that students take the ACT test in their junior year or early in the senior year of high school.

For other testing dates, students should contact their local school guidance counselors.

Anti-U.S. Riot Quelled In Japan

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — An estimated 3,000 antiwar protesters battled riot police today in an unsuccessful attempt to prevent the U.S. military from transporting armored personnel carriers from a repair facility to a pier.

Police said five protesters and 79 policemen were injured in the clashes, outside the U.S. Army supply and maintenance depot at Sagami-hara, 18 miles northwest of Yokohama, and along a 21 mile route to the pier. Twenty-five protesters were arrested.

The demonstrators claimed the ten personnel carriers were being shipped to South Vietnam. The U.S. military has refused to disclose the destination of the vehicles.

Syria Holds U.S. Attache

BEIRUT (P) — The Syrian government has detained the assistant military attache of the U.S. Embassy in Amman, Jordan, diplomatic sources said today.

They said Maj. Richard Barrett was arrested Sept. 9 at Deraa, the crossing point from Jordan into Syria.

All efforts to secure his release thus far have been unsuccessful, the sources said.

No reason for the arrest was given, the sources said. Syrian officials reached by telephone from Beirut said they had no comment on the incident.

Barrett was on his way to Beirut where his wife and child have been living since his assignment to Amman three weeks ago.

The United States has no diplomatic relations with Syria, which broke ties during the 1967 Middle East war. The Italian embassy in Damascus is in charge of U.S. interests. Italian diplomats were not immediately available for comment.

Sources said the United States tried to secure Barrett's release through quiet diplomatic efforts, with Lebanon as a go-between. When this did not produce results the United States asked the Italian Embassy in Damascus to take up the case.

Bahamians Go To Polls

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Bahamians elect a new government today after a campaign marred by violence and fought over the issues of independence from Britain and a faltering economy.

At stake is the fate of the first black Bahamian government in history and the 700-island nation's future course in foreign affairs, its own defense and the attraction of foreign investments.

Voters decide whether to return Prime Minister Lyndon O. Pindling and his Progressive Liberal Party to office or give the Free National Movement — a combination of dissident PLP members and the old white-dominated United Bahamian Party — the needed majority of 38 assembly seats to form a new government.

"The PLP has adopted an anti-foreign attitude which has damaged this country immeasurably," claimed Arthur Foulkes, a former Pindling associate who has become one of the administration's harshest critics.

Pindling, a popular black attorney from Nassau whose PLP swept aside the United Bahamian Party in 1967, admits to problems — employment is up, construction is down and investment is off. But he sees these as transitory, generated mainly by the uncertainty of elections.
